

Appalachian Mountain Woodworks, LLC

From the heart of the North Georgia Mountains, Appalachian Mountain Woodworks, LLC produces the finest premier line of Adirondack outdoor furniture from a beautiful shop in Dahlonega, Georgia. It is the result of a love of working with wood in a shop environment and the encouragement of family and friends.

Each furniture piece starts from 12' lengths of furniture grade cedar harvested from sustainable forests in British Columbia, Canada.

The wood is cut to length, shaped, edges rounded, sanded, and fit carefully together with stainless steel hardware and waterproof adhesive. Each step along the way, my total devotion to near perfection allows for close inspection of parts ensuring no flaw makes it into the finished piece a customer receives. Each item is then personally engraved for its new owner.

I started this business in Northern California in 2011 as a part-time hobby and it has grown to a backlog of work requiring seven days a week in production to deliver furniture orders and other custom project work. I am extremely blessed by the amazing reception I have received here in Georgia and across the country where we ship and have furniture in homes, restaurants, wineries, distilleries, and schools in many states.

My name is John Stewart and I'd be honored to make the custom-made Adirondack pieces that would make your porch, deck or patio the sanctuary of relaxation for you and your family. Call me at 707-738-0086.
